

CLIQ®

Next generation wall programming device

ASSA ABLOY
Opening Solutions

For updating CLIQ key access rights

Experience a safer and more open world

Update CLIQ key access rights securely and conveniently

The CLIQ Wall Programming Device is the interface between the CLIQ management software and user keys. It can be deployed centrally in a strategically chosen, fixed location for example, at a main building entrance, offering the convenience of day-to-day CLIQ key user updating. Any type of CLIQ key can be quickly and easily revalidated with updated time schedules and access rights. In addition, event logs can also be extracted from a user key.

Your advantages

Increased security thanks to easy key revalidation. The user inserts their smart key which is programmed automatically

Intuitive LED lighting instantly confirms the CLIQ key is updated. No mis-steps, no confusion

Introducing 802.1x protocol ensures that you can utilize programming devices in Network Access Control enabled environment to meet today's security standards

Quick installation – using existing wiring and backplate – makes upgrading easy. Your walls stay intact, too

Sleek design meets modern architectural standards

Total compatibility with existing and future CLIQ keys protects every investment. Upgrade now and keep saving time and money over the lifetime of your CLIQ system

System overview

Software to manage access rights for different users, doors and time periods
